Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 23 .- Reaching its crest at noon to-day with a stage of twentyfive feet at the Main-street bridge, the Wabash river flood has begun to subside and river men regard the danger as past, although it will be weeks before many portions of the city and vicinity have recovered from the effects of the overflow. The worst sufferer from the flood is the Lafayette strawboard works, which, standing on the river bank, has been inundated, and Presdent Bever is unable to say when the plant will reopen. Great damage has been done to the machinery and stock of straw. One bandred men are idle and may not be able to start work again for a week.

Porty feet of the large Wild-cat creek dam gave way late last night and the water is rushing through a forty-foot gap, inundating the surrounding fields. If the rise should continue the entire dam will be demolished. Capt. William Mitchell to-night received word that the Red Lodge clubhouse, south of the city, had been swept away. The cabin of David Noble, formerly a street-car motorman, was washed away from its foundations near the Big Four freight house to-day, and Noble's wife who is sick, was removed from the second story by rescuers. She is in a serious condition as a result of the shock.

Water covers the electric line to the Sollength, and no attempt will be made to run cars for some time. It is feared that the Weat Side pumping station will be forced to close down unless the water falls rapidly. The interurban line is having much trouble between this city and Frankfort, as the road was built after the freeze, and as the ground thaws and water rises the track set-

TO BE SAFELY PAST Wheeling Reports Much Damage, Lower Cities Are Cut Off-Falling at Cincinnati.

RAIL SERVICE BLOCKED

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CINCINNATI, Jan. 23 .- The sudden fall of temperature has removed all present danger of a disastrous flood here. The river has fallen somewhat and is almost clear of ice. Southern tributaries are sending little water into the Ohio and this condition precludes the possibility of danger. Navigation will be resumed on Monday.

Conditions vary greatly at various points along the river. With the rise checked at Pittsburg. Wheeling reported forty feet seven inches at 9 o'clock and rising three inches an hour. There has been considerable privation, much inconvenience and some suffering. The stream is checked with ice and most of the railroad service has been suspended. The wholesale business portion of the city was expected to be flooded by midnight and one of the most fashionable residence portions already is water-bound. Business is at a standstill at East Liverpool and Wellsville, O., with hundreds of families driven from their homes at the latter place. The waterworks have been forced to shut down. Speaks in Glowing Terms of Mikado, and Says What Philippines Need Are Railroads.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23 .- Former Governor Taft, of the Philippines, arrived here this morning on the steamer Korea. With him were Mrs. Taft, their two children, Fred Carpenter, his secretary, and Judge Wolfley, attorney general of the Philippines, who is traveling with the Governor's party on his way home on leave of absence The Governor was met by a number representative army and navy men and civil officials on the tug Golden Gate, to which the party was transferred after the Koera had reached the quarantine station. The tug carried its passengers to the Oakland mole, where Governor Taft boarded the Eastern overland train for Washingonce assume his duties as secretary

Before his departure Governor Taft talked at length to a representative of the Associated Press regarding conditions in the Philippines and briefly on the Japanese-Russian controversy. No significance of a political nature, he said, need be attached to the haste with which he is traveling. Secretary Root had been retained now one month longer than he had expected, and was anxious to turn affairs over to be settled so he could take up the practice of law in New York, which he had arranged to do on Feb. 1. Beside, he had a reception dated for the 29th inst., at which he proposed to introduce Taft and make him at home officially in his new depart-

In regard to the trouble between Japan and Pussia and the general situation that prevailed when he left the Orient, ex-Governor Taft said that affairs looked quite warlike. He had hopes, however, that the risis might yet be bridged over and peace preserved. The Mikado was a man of force and tact, his caliber being shown by the high class of advisers he had gathered around him. Governor Taft said that the Mikado was flattering in the extreme. The imperial host lost no opportunity to express his warm sympathy for the United States and the friendly relations he hoped ever prevail between the two na-Before leaving Manila the Mikado detailed the Japanese consul at that point to personally escort Governor Taft and party, which he did, from that port to Nagasaki, and from thence to Tokio.

PHILIPPINES TRANQUIL. Governor Taft said that conditions in the Philippines were better than ever before, and he doubted if greater tranquillity ever prevalled, even under Spanish administration. "We are now looking forward," he said, "to a period of great activity in railroad building throughout the islands. English and Belgian capitalists have so far controlled the field, but the people of the islands are anxious for the introduction of American capital, which so far has not been forthcoming. This may be due to the fact that it is too much occupied in other branches of industry or perhaps invectors of this country are too afraid, lacking the experience of English promoters in dealing with financial matters in the Orient. "One American syndicate, headed by a Mr. Swift, of Detroit, is engaged in the construction of electric railroads, gridironing the streets of Manila, with the object in view of extensions which will connect the suburban points. Two branch lines have just been authorised by the government, one of thirty-five miles and another of 357 miles, on the line of the road running out for a distance of 120 miles from Manila to Dagupan. This road was originally built by the Spanish.

tary Root has had surveys made for two or three trunk lines, which have already been published and for which estimates have been made. "The greatest need of the hour in the islands is railroads. The opportunity for their construction is not limited to any particular island, although they are just now confined to Luzon. Every island in the group can support a railroad running capital, it is hoped, will appreciate this

"The census will be published in October next, and on that date, provided the country is tranquil, as at present, the government will authorize the election of an assembly of not less than fifty nor more than 100 members. This assembly will be a legislative body, co-ordinate with the commis sion, passing all enactments for the government of the territory. It will be provided, however, that should they fail at any time to pass the necessary appropriapower to do so. This will give the present Phipippine commission two and a half years more in which to complete their arrangements for the government of the islands and the enactment of what they may consider necessary legislation. In reply to a question whether or not the Philippines were in a condition to govern themselves. Governor Taft said that they certainly were not at present, and to make prediction on the subject would be looking too far into the future.

THEATER DISASTER FIXED

Fire Chief Holds Management and Builders Responsible for the Horror.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 .- Upon the management and builders of the Iroquois Theater horror in a report rendered to Mayor Harrison by Fire Chief Musham to-day. The report is prepared by Fire Department Attorney Monroe Fulkerson after examination of nearly 100 witnesses in the days immediately following the fire. No criticism is made of the building department, although seven violations of the building ordinance are noted. Attorney Fulkerson concludes that the theater building was not completed at the time it was opened; that the theater employes did what they could to put the fire out, and that doors and exits were generally locked throughout building. The grounds cited by the report for placing the responsibility upon the builders and management are similar to the statements which have been published. Between three and four hundred relatives of the Iroquois fire victims at a meeting to-day began the permanent organization Iroquois Memorial Association. which has for its chief object the erection of a monument to the memory of the persons who lost their lives in the holoeaust. A proposition to build a towering, modern skyscraper of absolutely fire-proof material upon the site of the theater ruins was urged. When the great bell at the top of the retunda sounded the alarm of fire every janitor, engineer and fireman in the building responded, and long before the fire department had reached the scene the Temple fire brigade had attached hose to the standpipes, which extend from the basement to the roof, and eight streams of water were turned upon the fire by the volunteer firemen. The fire department used but little of its hose, the building equipment being called into use. Since the Iroquois fire Thomas McLennon the special officer stationed at the Masonic Temple, organized a volunteer fire drill among the employes, and they have been drilling twice each week. WENT DOWN FIRE ESCAPES. George Ashmore, a barber, and "Tony, a bootblack, climbed down the fire escape from the nineteenth floor of the Temple. When the knowledge of the fire reached the barber shop everybody made a rush for the elevators. They were full. Persons were clambering into them at a rate that threatened accidents unless the congestion was relieved. Thereupon Ashmore and the bootblack ran to the fire escape and started to climb downward. "Several times," said Ashmore, "as we passed by a window smoke rolled out in volumes that threatened to suffocate us. But we knew it was death if we lost our hold, and we hung on. We were mighty glad when we reached the

For a time it was feared that the water which threatened to flood the basement would put out the fires in the bollers an thus stop the elevators, on which the many upper floors depend for safety. The drains were found ample to carry away the water, however, and the elevators continued to run. As they passed the burning floor they were subjected to great heat and the smoke swept in thick volumes through the elevators, seeking the windows at the rear, which were helpful in clearing the air. The great rotunda shaft, with its runways for fourteen elevators, made an ideal chimney for the smoke, and the elevator men, for many trips in succession, were forced to breathe the smoke-laden air. Weak and faint at their levers, however, they aided in the escape of hundreds of people. While men and women were fleeing in wild confusion from the building, Lieutenant Commander John F. Luby, U. S. N. thundered, "Sit down!" at a number of applicants for the 2:10 p. m. navy, who were undergoing examination before him applicants for the navy who undergoing examination in his office on the fourteenth floor. "The first duty of a sallor is to obey orders, he shouted. "Go on with the examinations. The building is fireproof." The men obeyed. They remained at their desks, and while they did not attempt to answer questions before them, they remained calm and cool until the fire was over and other tenants began flocking back to the build-

I. Friedenlander, brother of the head of the concern in whose premises the fire began, was in the counting room checking up the day's receipts when an employe shouted "fire." He made a dash for the street, but he recalled that he had left $1,000 in a drawer. Dampening a handkerchief he placed it over his mouth and succeeded in returning and getting the money. Henry Martin, a clerk in the offices of Hirsch & Oppenheimer, manufacturers of jewelry, led the twenty-five employes of the company down the stairs after they had placed their books in the safe and locked the offices. Down seven flights the employes walked, making their way as it in a fire drill. The act is said to have quieted those rushing down from behind them and prevented injury to many in possible rush down the stairs. In the height of the excitement the crowds in the street saw a man clad in a heavy overcoat step out on the fire escape of the fourteenth floor and begin to de-

R. Friedlander, in whose suite the fire originated, was found unconscious on the floor. He was overcome by smoke and chemical fumes. Twelve girls in his employ made their escape at the first alarm. THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten Is Worthless Unless Digested-Some Stomachs Must Have Help.

Food taken into the Stomach which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement as far as it goes and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work; in other words, they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work as assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the digestive fluids and secretions of the stomach and they simply take up the grind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach or bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten and carry out nature's plans for the sustenance and maintenance of the body. How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By this means the body and brain get all the good, nutritious food they need and the man is properly nourished and equipped to carry on his work and perform his duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some new fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nutriment for a year-old baby. A strong man doing strong work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, enables it to recuperate and regain its normal health The aldermanic theater commission to- and strength. Nature repairs the worn
